Situation Report Southwest MO Storms Event May 12, 2008, 10 a.m.

SUMMARY

Severe storms with heavy rain and high winds, along with several reported tornadoes, swept through southwest Missouri Saturday evening – Sunday Morning. These severe storms are part of a large cluster of fast-moving storms, which have also affected states such as Oklahoma, Arkansas and Tennessee. At least 15 people have been killed in southwest Missouri due to tornadoes. The hardest hit areas appear to be in Barry, Jasper and Newton Counties in region "D".

The Association of Missouri Electric Cooperatives reports New-Mac is the hardest hit member, with about 350 poles down. About 16,000 customers are reportedly without power around the state. About 100 additional linemen and contractors are reportedly on-scene to assist New-Mac. It may be Wednesday before all power is restored in that area.

Governor Blunt is allowing State resources to assist in the affected areas under the previously-issued Executive Order 08-17. He has been in contact with state agencies regarding the effects of the tornadoes and severe storms in southwest Missouri.

National Weather Service survey teams indicated that the tornado near Racine, Missouri was an EF-4. Several other tornadoes were tracked as far east as Purdy in Barry County and there are unconfirmed reports of a tornado in Western Taney County.

Utilities:

AmerenUE reports about 7,500 customers without power this morning, primarily in the St. Louis County area. Ameren UE expects to have all customers back on line this afternoon. AmerenUE has added 300 outside contractor personnel as well as 300 linemen from their own company. Empire Electric indicates that they have 1,400 meters out of service in Newton County. Aquila is not reporting any outages at this time. New-Mac Electric Coop reports about 7,000 meters without power as of 7 p.m. last night. Additional resources from outside Co—ops are assisting New-Mac in getting poles reset and wires restrung.

County Reports:

Barry County – Officials report one person killed. It's believed about 150-175 buildings have been affected with about a dozen destroyed. They are checking for additional damages.

Jasper County – One person reported killed near Carthage. NWS has confirmed a second tornado (EF-1) east of Carthage in Jasper County. Also reports of downed trees and minor structural damage. There was no report from Jasper County for Monday.

A Nationally
Accredited
Agency

Newton County – All searches have been completed. 13 confirmed fatalities. Over 200 folks were treated for injuries. The shelters at Calvary Baptist Church in Neosho and the shelter in Diamond are now on stand-by. There was no one overnight in either shelter. Support has continued from Missouri National Guard, Missouri State Water Patrol and Missouri State Highway Patrol. Governor Blunt and U.S. Representative Roy Blunt will be visiting the area today. Missouri Humane Society is on scene and helping with small animal rescues.
